Testimony

Antoine Server
Intern at Château Olivier
Pessac-Léognan

« The Vitimanager specialization allowed me to have the first approach of wine-growing and enological technics, as well as tasting skills. The technical aspects of viticulture and enology are taught by many speakers and differts teachers.

This is what I was mainly looking for. The "main point" of the specialization is the business and marketing approach, which is well covered and allows to open doors towards the wine market and not to be confined to the technical and production side. Also: the fact that the specialization is very international, with a high level of English. It's perfect for meeting people from many different backgrounds. That ability to speak English and the knowledge of the wine market can also, on the long term, allow you to place yourself on positions such as technical director, travel abroad for business trips and represent his wine estate. Inspiring! »
